

Jesse M. Smith Memorial Library

Meeting Room Policy

Approved by the Library Board of Trustees 02/14/2024

The Jesse M. Smith Library makes its meeting rooms available, free of charge, for use by non-profit organizations for non-commercial, cultural, educational and civic purposes. Meeting rooms are not available for commercial, personal or private use. All meetings must be free and open to the public.

Room availability is contingent on there being no conflict with Library programs and meetings or Town programs and meetings, which have first priority at all times.

Each organization requesting use of a meeting room must complete an application before scheduling a meeting at the library. Applications must be completed by an adult (18+) who assumes responsibility for the group's usage of the room. A completed application must be submitted and photo ID of the adult assuming responsibility for the group's usage of the room must be presented.

Groups (and their members, and member's heirs, executors and administrators) using library meeting rooms waive, release, and hold harmless the Town of Burrillville and/or the Jesse M. Smith Memorial Library, its staff, officers, agents, employees, representatives, successors, and assign of and from all rights/claims for damages, loss to person or property, which may be sustained or occur before, during or after participation in the programs offered at the library or anywhere on the premises, including the parking lot and meeting room.

Any bookings of the Library's meeting rooms are subject to "bumping" for Library programs and meetings, and Town programs and meetings, which have first priority at all times.

Permission to any organization to use a meeting room does not constitute endorsement by the Jesse M. Smith Library of that organization's philosophy or objectives.

Decisions as to the use of the meeting rooms by any organization will be made by the Library Director/Board of Trustees. The Library Board of Trustees reserves the right to deny any meeting room application after review.

Upon review of the application, the Library will contact the organization to confirm bookings.
